After Many Protests

Planners Delay Action On 'Heavy' Industry

After an hour and a half public hearing peppered with quiet controversy, the San Bernardino County Planning Commission delayed making a decision Thursday, Aug. 21 on whether to grant a zoning variance that would allow Hooker American Co., a building materials firm, to construct a heavy industrial plant near Upland in an area north of Base Line between Central Avenue and the Los Angeles county line a now zoned for limited industry, M-1.

James Hooker, chairman of the board and president of the firm, led the drive to win the Commission's approval for the plant. As now planned it would be an "industrial complex" consisting of rock-crushing asphalt, and concrete block and pipe manufacturing plants. Residents of areas surrounding the proposed location along the San Antonio creek northwest of Upland, were out in force to protest.

F.G. Yoder, a member of the planners, said after the hearing there are "very, very good arguments on both sides, I think we should give it a lot of serious consideration, and maybe not even make a decision today." Robert O. Townsend, also a member of the Commission, agreed, "I'm not ready to make a decision yet." He moved that the decision be continued to Sept. 25; the motion was approved unanimously.

Hooker told the planners and irate citizens that his company has built "the finest, cleanest, most modern, sophisticated plants" in Los Angeles and Ventura counties, and plans to build the same type of plant in San Bernardino County. He defended the idea of an industrial complex all in one location, saying, "I can't think of anything worse than having a lot of little plants," spread around the county. Hooker also said that rock and gravel plants have been stereotyped as dirty, dusty and noisy projects. Hooker and the other men speaking for the plant, William Walk, and engineer Daniel Grandpre, each said the plant would comply with all county guidelines for dust, odor, and even noise, if the county establishes guidelines for it. Most of the residents who spoke against the plant were concerned about heavy truck traffic, dust from the rock mining, noise from the processing plant, and odor from the asphalt plant.

One of the housewives who spoke against the proposed plant, Mrs. Perry Manwaring, said after the hearing concluded, "I can't believe things could be as rosy as they say. We've lived in that area for 13 years, and we see what the other rock plants do."

Director of the Commission, Neil B. Pfulb, opened the meeting by announcing the Commission staff's opposition to the project. Their report declared that the rock-crushing plant is compatible with that area's role as a flood control and water resources area, but that expansion into heavy manufacturing conflicted with the general plan. A representative from the Upland city government also said that plant conflicted with their city plan. James Van Wager, vice-president of the Pomona Valley Protective Association, also spoke in support of the plant, emphasizing that Hooker American Co. could save the taxpayers "hundreds of thousands of dollars" by digging out parts of the flood control channel to allow room for more water.

Mark Alexander Candidate For Kiwanis Governor Post

Upland Kiwanian Mark Alexander is in the running for Governor of the 2,500 man, Cal-Nev-Ha District of Kiwanis. He is running against Phillip Robinson of Cypress.

Alexander, a member of the Upland Kiwanis for 11 years, was placed in nomination by his own club and was endorsed by Div. 15 where he served as Lt. Governor.

The last District 15 governor to be elected as Governor of the Cal-Nev-Ha district was in 1940 when Dr. Norman Abbot of Ontario was elected.

This year's election will be held Tues., Sept. 23, at the District convention in San Diego. The district has 530 clubs, 20,000 Key Clubbers and 6,000 Circle K boys. These last two clubs are for high school students and are sponsored by the Kiwanians.

He was president of his club in 1966, Lt. Governor, Dist. 15, 1967 and District Education chairman, appointed by the present Governor of Cal-Nev-Ha, and serves on the Board of Trustees for Kiwanis International. He joined the local club in 1958 and has 11 years of perfect attendance.

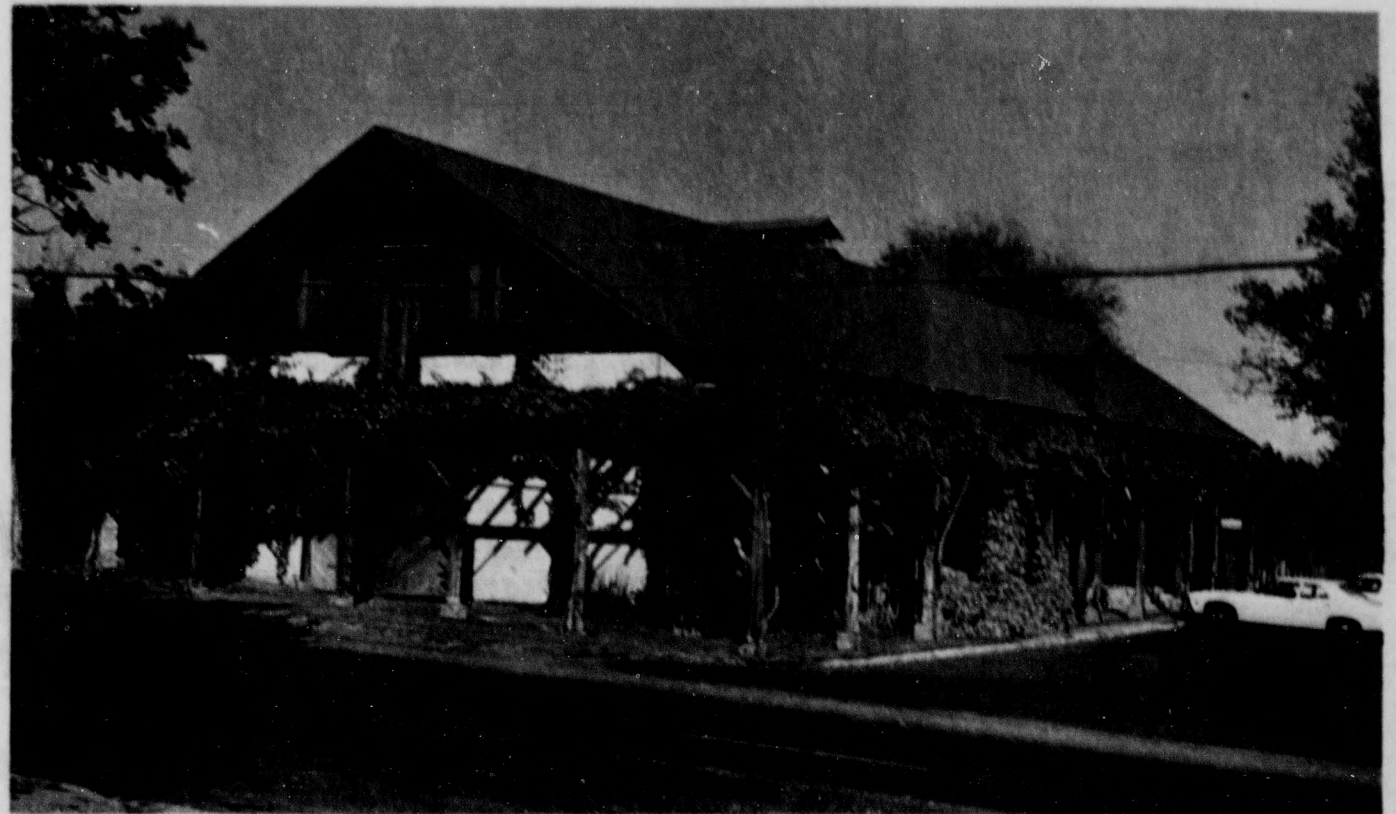

Alexander and his wife were Mt. Baldy residents until the January floods, but now live in Upland where they had also maintained an apartment. They have lived in the area for 19 years.

Born in Nebraska, he later moved with his family to San Diego, where he graduated from Hoover high school. He attended L. A. State college and Upland college and is associated with Novell Realty. He and his wife, Phyllis, have two married daughters and two sons in college.

Rejects City Plan For Undergrounding

PUC Backs Edison Co. On Above Ground Lines

UPLAND -- The city has appealed to the state Public Utilities Commission to urge the Edison Co. to put power transmission lines underground from a proposed sub-station, but the PUC seems indifferent.

The electricity company plans to build the substation at the southeast corner of Baseline and Campus avenue. The overhead transmission lines will run in several directions along various streets to other electric company substations.

The city now has extensive plans for undergrounding all utility lines and has done so in the civic center area, but is powerless to prevent Edison's plans because of right-of-way matters.

The PUC told the city that the decision is based on economics and the Edison commitment to provide the maximum improvement in appearance. The estimates vary from $1.5 million to $974,000.

"We have been advised by Edison that after a thorough review of the plans, including a field inspection trip, the substation and lines as planned are located properly and that construction in accordance with the plans should proceed as scheduled," said the PUC.

Public Hearing On Post Office

The public hearing on the Conditional Use Permit for the new Post Office in Upland will be held at tonight's Planning Commission meeting. Time set is 7:30 p.m.

Site for the proposed post office is at the corner of Third avenue and Arrow highway. The building will contain 37,160 sq. ft. of space, with 21 public parking stalls and 114 employee parking stalls.

An eight foot high decorative block wall with landscaping will be on the Arrow highway side, the entrance is to be located on Third avenue, and the parking lot will be screened by a three foot high decorative block wall.

Making the application was C. M. Suyeishi, real estate officer for the Post Office Department.

Catch Armed Suspect Here

Donald Eugene Blosser, 27, an alleged armed burglary suspect, was apprehended Saturday in Upland without a mishap, according to a police department spokesman.

A potentially dangerous situation was averted when police officers approached an apartment house located at 151 N. 13th ave. after receiving a call from the Long Beach police department that a warrant had been issued for a man who was holed up in Apt. C with friends.

The man, who was wanted by the LBPd, was considered dangerous and had made the statement he would never be taken alive, police said.

In the apartment with the suspect were several people, including three small children.

Six Upland police officers approached the apartment house building and were about to use the PA system to ask the suspect to surrender when he walked out, unaware the police were there looking for him.

Using the PA system, the police asked the other occupants of the apartment to leave, which they did. Inside, the police found a sawed-off shot gun and several hand guns. The suspect was turned over to the LBPd.

Capt. Pete Smith

He Traded Baseball Cap For Police Helmet

Thomas (Pete) Smith is a local boy who once played on the sand lots of Upland and dreamed of a life in Baseball's Big Leagues.

As in many of our lives, his dream never materialized and while he didn't give up his love of baseball, he did trade his baseball cap for a police helmet.

The switch came in 1951 when he was drafted for the Korean War and served in the Military Police. It was a rewarding experience and changed his mind about playing Big League ball. He chose instead to become a police officer.

NATIVE JAYHAWKER

Born in Kansas, he came to Upland when he was six and attended schools here. He also married an Upland girl. In fact, she lived around the corner from his parents, and since her family owned the neighborhood store, he made it a point to do his shopping there. So no one was really surprised when he married the girl, Bernadine Bateman.

"She was all for me becoming a police officer, and over the years has backed me up 100 per cent. It is not easy being a policeman's wife, and she has never let me down," Capt. Smith said.

He also paid tribute to his family of four who think their dad is great and his being a policeman is a fine idea and no problem.

It's a close knit family with son, Tom, 16, a junior in Upland high, two daughters, Linda, 13, an eighth grader, and Sandra, 11, a sixth grader. The "little guy" is David (Spike), who is a first grader.

LOVE BASEBALL

They love baseball as much as Dad and the older boy has played on Little League and Pony League teams. "Spike" will also, when he's old enough. He shows an interest in the game already.

The big problem at the moment is trying to make it to four different schools. PTA's. "We have children in high school, junior high school and two different elementary schools, and have to decide where to go," Capt. Smith said humorously.

HAS KEY POSITION

The police officer is a quiet, serious man with gleams of humor that break through now and then. He is well organized and dedicated and is popular with the public as well as his men.

He is in a key position in the department as coordinator of Police Community Relations and the Police Training program.

Police Chief John Wessely says of Capt. Smith, "He is a fine officer and has helped implement the training program and the police community program material. He has also carried out the two jobs with great dedication.

On an internal level, Capt. Smith handles the training program for police officers, which is constantly upgraded and implemented. Capt. Smith is quick to point out that he administers the program, but that it takes all of the officers to help make it work.

Capt. Smith's Police Community program has had wide acceptance in Upland. His background has provided the training for the position. After serving as a patrolman, he was in the detective bureau, and did patrol investigation work. He attended Chaffey college and received his AS in Police Science work. He plans to continue his education.

POLICE - COMMUNITY RELATIONS

His role in developing the Community Relations program stemmed from the excellent results he had with the Bicycle Safety program conducted in the elementary schools.

He saw the need then to develop better police relationships with youngsters. The idea of having a policeman to talk to before any law was broken and under peaceful circumstances gave the youngsters confidence.

GETTING TO KNOW YOU

Out of this program came the "Getting to Know You" program in the schools. In this program, the police officer goes to the schools and tells the students of what his work is and a little bit about his family. He then lets them ask questions and later has lunch with them on the school grounds.

The program has worked well with the elementary schools, but exceptionally well with the junior high school students. An outgrowth of this program was the "Ride-Along" program for high school students. Students ride in the police car for two of the evening hours and get to see the police in action.

The latest program that has been developed is the "Neighborhood Coffees." Police officers who have a certain area, go to the homes and meet the people personally on his beat. They, in turn, are free to ask him questions and they also get to know him. He is not just a face riding in a police car.

Citizen Of The Month

On an internal level, Smith handles the training program for police officers, which is constantly upgraded and implemented. Smith is quick to point out that he administers the program, but that it takes all of the officers to help make it work.

HEADS FOR BALL PARK

In his off hours, he heads for the baseball park where he is active in Little League and youth baseball. He helped organize the first Pony League and Colt teams in the area.

He recalls the time when they were developing Memorial park ball field and the Los Angeles Angels donated their old batting cage to the cause.

We literally lugged and tugged the thing up here from Ontario where the Angels were training. "There we were a strange sight, dragging that thing up Grove avenue with people staring."

Besides his many youth activities, he holds membership in the Lions Breakfast club, was a charter member and past president and is now a director. He has served as a leader in Boy Scout troops and is a member of the Church of Latter Day Saints, where he is active in youth work. On a professional level, he has memberships and is active in the Southern California Professional Police Community Relations Officers Association and the Southern California Police Training Officers Association and other professional police officer groups.

His work is in a sensitive area of human relations and his philosophy is not to set an example but to live the example.

BATTER UP -- It's a friendly ball game when Capt. Smith and his family gather on the front lawn. Young David mans the bat, while his big brother acts as catcher. Daughters, Linda and Sandra, along with their mother wait their turn at bat. Dad is the umpire and his decisions are final, but it's all in good fun.

An Open Letter To Our Teenagers

Dear Kids--

I have a special love for the majority of you teenagers who make up today's society. I have faith in your talents, your innate intelligence and goodness.

For you (and you know who you are), I have a healthy respect. You are the kind of kids that make me glow. You renew my love of country, of my fellowman. You make me proud to wave the flag, to say, "America--love it or leave it."

This letter is not meant for your kind of kids. It is, rather, meant for the minority of incorrigible dissenters who are well on their way to becoming the majority, and who are dedicated to destroying our society.

To you unreasonable, disturbing forces, I direct these comments:

We, the adults of America, are coming to a point of rebellion against YOU. We have had about enough of your childish, moronic demands.

You frequently say we don't listen to you--that we don't hear you. WHO doesn't listen to you? Oh, we hear you all right, in every word and action you force upon us. What you say, in your whiny little voices and actions comes through loud and clear. "If we can't have our way, with no compromises, we'll fix you! We'll take drugs and we'll get drunk at you. We'll fix it so our children can be born with a drug addiction, or come into this world mentally or physically deformed. And then where'll you be?"

By that time, I trust, most of us will be six feet under. But where'll YOU be? Living with "the sins of the fathers" I suspect.

Many learned and understanding bodies of concerned adults have tried to discuss your problems with you reasonably. Mostly it ends with your demands not being met. And why?

Who supports your demands? What makes you think we should pay and pay for your demands and your destructive actions, which invariably amount to your demanding more than we ourselves have, or which the hard-working students on our campuses don't even expect?

Have YOU ever stood in a bread line for lack of work? Have YOU ever lacked an opportunity to get a free education? Have YOU ever come up with any better solution than our democracy, which should allow the majority to rule--not in crime and violence, but in the prevention of it?

Kids, give us one sensible, constructive solution to your problems and you'll find we're not such a bad lot after all.

When you kids act like wild animals, and live in conditions no self-respecting pig would tolerate, you can expect to be treated accordingly. We'll allow you the right to that kind of suffering, if it's what you like.

But we are not fiends. Some of us are your parents--many of whom have made mistakes, have admitted them, and want to be forgiven for them. Neither are we saints. But we do our best.

Watch out, you dissenters; your resentments will destroy you if the drugs don't.

Meanwhile, nationwide--I promise you--we adults will one of these fine days rise up in righteous indignation and turn you over our collective knees and give you unreasonable, self-centered little punks the spanking you're begging for!

To our great little society of teenagers who are striving so desperately to help make America the rich country it deserves to be: One of these days we adults will reach our saturation point. When we do, we may reach in your direction and say, "Help us." We will count on you. We hope you'll be ready.

Tribute To Our Workers . . . .

'Scene And Herd' In The West End

by Bill Mason

POLITICAL RUMOR FACTORY

Three names are mentioned prominently as possible city council candidates for next spring, aside from the three incumbents, Max Hawkins, Zella Stone and Jim Christensen.

The trio are attorney Harold A. Bailen, who spearheaded Assemblyman Quimby's reelection campaign in the west end; Frank Carpenter, a member of the Planning Commission; and Harvey Stone, past president of the Upland Chamber of Commerce.

Stone is the son of Zella Stone, but it's unlikely that the mother and son will both run.

There's also talk of a "Businessman's Ticket".

HIZZONER TO HAWAII

Hizzoner George Gibson departs this weekend for his regular month's stay in Hawaii -- away from the heat, smog, flies and sign ordinances.

BIGGEST FUN EVENT

The only big event in these parts over the Labor Day weekend is the fun-filled Cucamonga Grape and Wine Festival at the Regina Winery, Sunday and Monday.

It promises to be a big event, as usual.

It most certainly is one of the state's unusual celebrations.

THE FULL CIRCLE

It takes time, but eventually everything comes full circle.

Ford Motor Company is planning to make its new small car easy to repair, with bolt-on-fenders and a simpler engine.

General Motors has similar ideas about its future minicar.

If the trend catches on and automotive design completes its circle, we can expect to see the latest thing on wheels -- the 1971 Model T, completely equipped with baling wire, spare coil and a running board.

OVERLOOKED

Probably the "most ignored" sports squad in the West End is the Upland High Cross-Country team.

The Highlander harriers won the only CIF championship to come to San Bernardino County this past school year.

Yet, we didn't hear of anyone throwing a banquet for these athletes who engage in a sport that is as grueling as any that can be found.

We recall the Ft. Collins, Colo. High School which won the National high school Track and Field Championship three years running -- largely because the school swept all the points in the hammer throw -- an event in which few schools compete today.

Labor Day 1969

Labor Day is meant for rest and recreation but that shouldn't rule out constructive activity. Why not, then, set aside a little time to consider why it's one of our most important holidays.

The way the meaning of the word "labor" has changed over the years is one clue to why this anniversary is increasingly significant to all Americans. When the holiday was started nearly a century ago, men really labored--and hard. Then the one-day respite provided much-needed relief from toil.

Today, people still work diligently and ambitiously--but the enervating drudgery and sheer expenditure of muscle are no longer the standard pattern. . . thanks to modern facilities and a huge expansion in creative occupations. Moreover, the worker of 1969 has both the opportunity and energy to enjoy his day off and the fruits of his labor.

This has been brought about by the ingenuity of industrial science, which--coupled with a remarkable partnership between employer and employee--has made the American worker the most productive in the world. In counting our Labor Day blessings, we should bear in mind the need to maintain a balance in the relations between management and employees.

While resolving to extend the cooperative spirit that enhances our economy, organized labor and management might do well to sign another pact: a contract to work jointly to improve the lot of those who still do not share in the material and social benefits of our times.

Industry has already taken substantial steps in that direction--through such efforts as manpower training for the hard-core unemployed and affirmative action to provide equal employment opportunities. But organized labor's participation is vital to making these programs more effective, and the determination to make such a contribution is an appropriate Labor Day resolution.

FREDONIA, KANS., CITIZEN: "If the American people wish the government to cut expenses, they are going to have to stop expecting the services they presume taxes should furnish, from hot lunches for school children to reading the labels on breakfast cereal for them. No matter where the cuts come, someone is going to be screaming. If the American people truly want more financial stability, they will have to revise their standard approach to every problem which usually commences: 'The government ought to do something about. . .'

"I wish they'd give us a choice between school and the draft!"

Dr. Jorge Mottet Honored By Council

Dr. Jorge Mottet, an Upland Junior high school Spanish teacher, was named Honorary Citizen by the City Council at its Aug. 18 meeting.

Dr. Mottet has asked for a year's leave of absence from the school district, but plans to return to Upland. He has accepted a position at Lockhaven State college, Pennsylvania, to set up a Department of Latin American studies.

It is with regret he is leaving, but in his new position he can serve larger numbers of students, he said. He indicated that the four years spent in Upland have been the happiest of his life.

"Dr. Mottet has given to the community and its young people much more than he has ever asked of his adopted country and home town," Mayor Gibson said. Dr. Mottet was the first Argentinian to lead an expedition to the South Pole. He has climbed every major mountain in South America.

He came to the United States five years ago and sold brushes door to door to learn the language. At the same time, he enrolled in Claremont Graduate school and joined the Upland Junior high school faculty as a Spanish instructor four years ago.

During the ensuing four years, Dr. Mottet earned his Doctorate of Philosophy degree in Latin American history. During the floods of last winter, he unselfishly spent many sleepless hours working with evacuees at Upland refugee centers. He was personally responsible for a Mexican fiesta which was televised during the 1968-69 school year on DMEX-TV exposing Upland and its schools to a viewing audience of 500,000 persons in southern California. He has always provided an outstanding example to his students in both his public and professional endeavors. He is presently writing a book which he plans to dedicate to Upland.

"The above represents only a small part of the positive influence that this dedicated teacher and outstanding 'new' citizen has had on this community on a day-to-day basis," Mayor Gibson added.

Decorate LCDR D.R. Maher For Outstanding Service

In an awards ceremony aboard USS Leader (MSO 490) at Bellingham, Washington, Captain H. R. Moore, USN, Commander of Mine Flotilla Three, presented Lieutenant Commander Daniel Richard Maher, USN with the Bronze Star Medal for his outstanding performance of duty as the commanding officer of Leader (MSO 490) during the ship's recent deployment to the waters of South Vietnam.

The citation from the president of the United States commended Lieutenant Commander Maher for meritorious service while serving as commanding officer of USS Leader (MSO 490) from 9 October 1968 to 8 February 1969 during combat operations against the enemy.

Lieutenant Commander Maher displayed exceptional qualities of leadership, seamanship, initiative, and judgment in directing his ship through market time operations in support of Sea Lords operations, support of inshore patrol units, a vigorous ship's training program, and conduct of naval gunfire support. His superior seamanship and judgment permitted his ship to penetrate two sand bars off the Ca Mau Peninsula in order to take enemy positions under fire. Through his ability, leader inflicted significant damage upon the enemy. Lieutenant Commander Maher's tireless effort, resourcefulness, and devotion to duty reflected great credit upon himself and were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service.

THIRD TOUR

This was Lieutenant Commander Maher's third tour of duty in Vietnam. He served as an advisor to the Vietnamese Junk Forces during 1964-65. During this period he was decorated by both the United States and Vietnamese governments.

During 1967 while serving as operations officer of a Navy destroyer he again deployed to Vietnam and received the Navy Commendation Medal from the Secretary of the Navy for his performance of duty.

Lieutenant Commander Maher is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel W. Maher of 1136 Canyon drive, Upland. He and his wife Judy and two children, Carolyn and David, presently live in San Pedro. His ship is home-ported in Long Beach and is a unit of mine division 93.

Lieutenant Commander Maher's brother, Captain Vincent F. Maher, USMC, is presently serving with the Marine Forces in Vietnam.

Plastic Mannequin Helps Human Heart Patients

The newest addition to the training program at San Antonio Community Hospital is a life-size and life-like mannequin with the professional name of Arrhythmia Resusci Anne which for brevity has been reduced to Resusci-Anne or simply "Anne."

This inflatable mannequin is a new teaching and training aid providing the means for the hospital nurses and other personnel to become more proficient in the emergency resuscitation of patients.

Another feature of this unique mannequin is that it responds to both external shock, cardiac massage and mouth-to-mouth resuscitation; it also has a palpable carotid pulse and realistic torso skin.

In addition to the basic "Anne" mannequin, the hospital has included the more recently developed Electronic Heart feature which provides San Antonio Community Hospital with the newest and most beneficial Arrhythmia Anne in this area.

The great need for additional knowledge in recognizing the symptoms of death - producing heart conditions in time to act quickly and save the patient prompted the hospital administration to add this modern Resusci-Anne training and teaching tool to its educational equipment.

The basic "Anne" mannequin has been used for some time by the Upland Fire Department, local Red Cross, San Bernardino Red Cross and Heart Association for training purposes but without the Electronic Heart feature.

Using "Anne" as the patient, nurses and others are learning how to begin immediate treatment of abnormal heart rhythm. By recognizing potentially fatal heart conditions before they occur, hospital personnel can save the lives of many more patients who might otherwise die or become permanently disabled.

Weekly classes are held under the supervision of Mrs. B. J. Raab, Director of the Inservice Education Department, who is assisted by Mrs. M. Dunham, instructor in the department, each in cooperation with Dr. R. N. Williams, Medical Director of the Cardiac Care Unit.

The hospital medical staff also plans to hold classes with the use of "Anne" in order to remain current in their knowledge of the field in various heart rhythms.

At the present time 90 percent of the nurses at San Antonio Community Hospital have taken a five-hour course in Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation in which "Anne" was involved and have received formal credentials according to Mrs. Raab.

The presence of this new equipment at San Antonio Community Hospital for teaching its nurses and other staff members to recognize correct resuscitation procedures in order to save more lives also serves to spread this knowledge more widely concerning the ABC's of Emergency Resuscitation.

These include: Airway passage for the patient, Breathing restoration, and Circulation restoration.

The training also meets the two major requirements in the care and treatment of heart cases: the ability to recognize any approaching symptoms before they actually occur and the knowledge and ability to act promptly.

SHE HAS A HEART - The new Resusci-Anne mannequin at San Antonio Community Hospital has an Electronic Heart which responds to external shock, cardiac massage and mouth-to-mouth resuscitation among other valuable features for use in the hospital inservice training program for nurses and other staff members.

Up With People Beckons To Youths With Song And Travel

By Judy Jordahl

"Up With People tries to present a positive approach to life," says member Beverly Rogers, "But it is not a religion."

Beverly, the daughter of Mrs. Alice Rogers, 1448 Francis ave., Upland, started out in a local Up-With-People group, Sing-Out West End, about two and a half years ago. Then last year she went for an interview and was accepted into Cast B.

The organization is composed of three international casts of about 180 young people in each one. It is continually on the move, receiving financial support from contributions and such sponsors as Reader's Digest, Pepsi-Cola, Walt Disney and Nelson Rockefeller.

The organization also provided the theme float in President Richard Nixon's inaugural parade. The float pictured a large rock, like the Rock of Gibraltar, symbolizing strength and stability, followed by 50 young people symbolizing the 50 states.

STARTED AT MACKINAW

Up With People started about four years ago at Mackinaw College, Mackinaw Island, Mich., as a continuation of the Moral Re-armament Movement (MRA) begun after World War I and religiously oriented.

"MRS is almost extinct in the United States," Beverly said, "Up With People is more modern and not strait-laced."

The international casts of Up With People are composed of young people from all over the world -- Africa, Panama, South America, Norway, Finland, India, the United States, Spain, Germany, and Switzerland.

Religious and philosophical backgrounds of the members are diversified, but "most believe in a Supreme Being," Beverly said. "As in our theme song, 'What Color Is God's Skin,' we believe that every man is the same in the good Lord's sight."

PUBLIC RELATIONS

The function of Up With People seems almost that of promoting good public relations for the United States with other nations,

"America has made an awful lot of mistakes, they say," Beverly related. "We try to present a different picture."

"Countries only hear the bad news about each other, never anything good," She cited riot stories as an example.

"We try to better ourselves, the world, and other people."

After joining Cast B last summer, Miss Rogers traveled with the group around the country. Since she joined prior to finishing high school, she completed her senior civics, contemporary American history, and English requirements from the University of Nebraska correspondence course, receiving her diploma July 7 in Hartford, Conn., along with other Up-With-People students.

INVITED TO EUROPE

In mid-April the casts left on invitation to go to Europe -- Cast A to Italy, Cast B to Spain, and Cast C to France. Cast B also spent three weeks in Germany and a week in Switzerland, picking up new members from each country.

"The Spanish people are very emotional," noted Miss Rogers. She said that more than enough homes were offered as lodging to the group in each city visited.

In Valencia, where Up With People performed in a bull ring seating 20,000 persons, the rows looked white with waving handkerchiefs after the program, Beverly said.

She spoke well of the family with whom she stayed in Saragoza, describing the members as "very generous and kind." They were eager to share and identify with Miss Rogers and her background. Language difficulties became a game with lots of laughs.

Germans, on the other hand, can speak English, if they are young Germans. But they are more prim and polite and less enthusiastic. Performances in Germany never attracted a full house, Beverly said. "MRA is still strong in Germany."

DON'T HOLD BACK

"Spanish people don't hold back. They are always smiling, always happy. They live life for what it is."

"They don't worry about taxes and money. Most of them are Catholic and they just believe that God will provide."

Members of Up With People were briefed on Spain and its culture before they arrived. The ruler, Franco, had invited the group to come.

"They were ready for something," Beverly said. Because so many had to be turned away for lack of room, the group will return to Spain later to give further performances.

Performances generally last about two hours. The words of the songs put across the group's ideas and come in logical thought sequence.

For example, one program began with "What Color Is God's Skin," went on to "Man's Got To Go Somewhere," and followed that with "Ed White's Walk Across the Sky." The music varies from slow to fast and includes beat, folk, and rock sounds.

POP CHARTS

When the group is invited to a foreign country, the members plan and prepare to do their whole show in that country's native language. While performing in Spain, Up With People was honored to have "What Color Is God's Skin" make number one on Spanish pop charts while their theme song became number three.

Selling records, bumper stickers, and copies of PACE magazine is the group's main way of helping support itself when it travels. Records are recorded in the countries' native languages.

Miss Rogers is proud of the group's stand. "We're not hoods but we're not Quakers, either. We hit racial issues and are involved in the space program."

OUTLOOK BROADENED

She feels she has profited most from her participation in Up With People in that acquaintance with different kinds of people and cultures has broadened her outlook and point of view on problems in the world.

"You see poverty, such as in Spain, and get to talk to actual Communists in Germany. You get to know their ideas."

"One of our cast members from Norway told me America is isolated and we don't know enough about world problems. So I was worried about how to talk to Germans."

"I learned a lot. One German mark is actually worth 50 cents but the standard rate of exchange is four marks to a dollar. It is really two, but we had to think four."

"Germany could revalue but it won't because it would knock down the American economy, Germans told me."

"I felt very impressed."

Steven Glencoe On Dean's List

Dr. James W. Cleary, President of San Fernando Valley State College, has named Steven Glencoe of Upland to the Dean's List for outstanding academic accomplishment.

To qualify for the Dean's List, a student must achieve a grade point average of 3.5-4.0 (A minus to A) for all classes taken the previous semester.

Steven is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley P. Glencoe, who reside at 555 North Sixth ave. and is presently on a church mission (Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints) in Japan, having just completed a Japanese language training program at the Church College of Hawaii in Laie, Hawaii. He will be on the mission for two years, after which he will resume his formal education.

Upland Collegians

Three collegians, students at Claremont Men's college, earned places on the Dean's list, it was announced this week.

In order to be eligible for the honor, the student must take a minimum of three and one-half courses and maintain a B average or better.

From Upland were Fredrick Wilding, a senior, son of Mrs. Elinor K. Wilding, 281 N. Campus, and Mrs. William L. Wilding of San Bernardino; Richard Burnweit, a freshman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Burnweit, 2450 Ocean View Drive; and Richard Reed, a freshman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Reed, 1175 North Euclid.

Over 50% of America's farm products today consist of plants used by the Indians before Columbus planted his flag.

ARTS AND CRAFTS -- Stacey Matewsewicz, 7, holds the clown doll she made out of odds and ends. She was one of 2,500 youngsters who participated in the arts and craft classes given under the sponsorship of the Upland Recreation Department. Her doll was shown as part of an open house held at Memorial park at the close of the program.

Today's WOMEN European Honeymoon Follows Nuptial Service

A two-week honeymoon amid the romantic splendor of Italy followed the candlelit nuptial services that joined Anne Throop, daughter of the E.A. Throops of Upland and Samuel Ferry, son of the Elwood Ferrys of Pennsylvania.

The bride carried a cascade bouquet of orchids with her Galina gown of white peau de soie featuring an A-line cage, scattered with Venice daisy lace appliques.

A scoop neck framed the lovely bride, with neckline, sleeves and hem all banded by scallops of lace, as was the bridal train.

A coronet of daisy lace held the trailing veil of pure silk illusion, the candlelight reflecting in the tiny lace daisies that dotted it.

TOPS Members Have Mock Luau

O.W.L. Tops members exchanged gifts to reveal secret pals at a mock Luau recently.

Mary Garman and Mary Lou Nicles entertained with several Hawaiian dances and Margarita Alfaro sang two songs playing her guitar as accompaniment.

Ruth Kerns was honored with a crown for the best weight loss for the month of July. Recent queens-of-the-week have been Vadis Irvin, Mrs. Nicles, Mrs. Kerns and Ruth Blackmon.

New secret pals will be chosen on September 16 when the O.W.L. Tops Club will hold a "Back to Childhood" night.

The O.W.L. Tops meets each Tuesday from 7 to 9 p.m. at Hawthorne School in Ontario.

Attending the bride as Matron of Honor was Mrs. Robert Lewis of Santa Barbara. Bridesmaids were Alice Shelton and Mrs. Richard Drysdale of Upland, Kathy O'Grady of Highland and Mrs. John.

Their gowns were empire line gold, accenting the basket of gold and bronze mums each carried.

Kathy O'Grady served as flower girl, while candle lighters were Mike and Larry Vick of Chino.

The groom, a veteran of the U.S. Marine Corps, now attends Chaffey College. His best man was James Gabany of Ontario, with ushers Terry Throop and Richard Rothermeiz both of Upland.

A reception was held honoring the newlyweds in the hall of the First United Methodist Church of Upland, following the ceremony.

FEATURED SPEAKER -- Mrs. Ron Alverson, chairman of the Christian Women's club, talks with their featured speaker, Joyce Landorf, at the Olive Tree Mother-Daughter luncheon.

Author-Singer Stresses Attitudes In Talk Here

Attitudes and direction were the main points stressed in the talk given by Joyce Landorf at the Mother-Daughter luncheon sponsored by the Pomona Valley Christian Women's club at the Olive Tree.

"You are warped due to your attitudes -- and it needn't be that way. Ask God for direction and help," stated the noted speaker-author-singer.

She prefaced her talk by singing two songs which led into the theme of her message. One, the theme from "Sound of Music" and the "Illusive Dream", the lyrics illustrating her theme of seeking attitude and direction.

She stated "Modern women are going 94-1/2 different directions at once, and you don't get anywhere. We need God to control our lives."

She stated the modern woman is faced with two directions, that of being a stylish, mod, "mini-mom" image or the conventional image of a mother. She noted the current advertising gives women the idea that "If you're not sexy or young, you're out of it." She urged women not to live up to the advertising "mini-mom" image but to seek the role of a true mother.

She feels through God stressing attitudes and direction, a woman can give new goals and a new perspective to her life.

Joyce Landorf has a daily radio program, "Here's Joyce." She is the women's editor of the Kings Business magazine and a featured soloist at her church and on the television program, "World of Youth." She also is a Sunday school teacher. A new album of hers is called, "It's Great To Be Alive," a gospel-rock type of music.

Palmisano To Attend Convention

At a recent meeting of the Italian Catholic Federation, St. Joseph's Branch #216, president Joseph Palmisano was named delegate to attend the annual convention to be held in Fresno over the Labor Day weekend.

Two new members were admitted to the branch. They are Mrs. Maria De Fatio and Eva Gerling.

On Aug. 27, a watermelon feed will be held at Upland Memorial Park. Members are to bring their own food and the watermelons will be donated by the branch.

"Las Vegas Night" was enjoyed by all after the meeting with prizes being awarded to Mrs. Nick Triciniella, Mr. Joseph Vagnozzi, and Mr. Riss Cremo.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Nicola Mannerino and Mrs. Alfonso Vagnozzi.

At the Sept. 13 meeting, slides of a recent European trip will be shown.

Chaffey Trustees Sell OIA Land; Endorse Plan To Find New Home

ALTA LOMA - A plan to find a new home for Chaffey College vocational program now offered at Ontario International Airport was approved Tuesday by the board of trustees.

The action followed an agreement to sell Chaffey property at OIA to the Los Angeles Airport Authority for $172,500. The property consists of a 4-acre site and extensive instructional facilities. The college is asking also for a joint usage stipulation in the agreement which would allow about a year to relocate its instructional operation and equipment in stages. The proposal for joint usage continues negotiations begun earlier this year after LAAA instituted condemnation proceedings on Chaffey's airport property.

Representing the college in the transaction is the office of the San Bernardino County counsel. To accommodate Chaffey vocational programs affected by the transaction, the board:

--Authorized construction of an aerotechnology annex to the aircraft mechanics building on the Alta Loma Campus for training in air frame fabrication and in welding. The college has conducted in aeronautics program at OIA since 1933.

--Granted a request by the college to apply for matching state of federal funds to be used with funds from the property sale to recover replacement costs. (Officials here noted that money from the transaction itself would be insufficient to cover total replacement.)

--Gave the college permission to purchase or lease facilities from the San Bernardino County Airport Authority to provide for the Chaffey flight training program. The proposed relocation would be at the Chino Airport.

--Sanctioned a college request of lease facilities for the perpetuation of the Chaffey Manpower Development Training Act program offered by the college at OIA since 1967. Scheduled for the year ahead are auto body repair, auto mechanics, sheet metal work, machine shop and welding.

In other action, the board approved:

--A college request for calls for bids for structural additions to the Little Theater.

--A request for a special committee meeting at noon next Tuesday to review bids on street resurfacing, replacement of swimming pool filters and new furniture. The bids will be opened next Monday.

--The appointment of Alan S. Goldstein as geology instructor. He has been a geology instructor and discussion leader at the University of Southern California since 1966.

Goldstein is the seventh teacher to be hired for the year ahead. The number includes a sabbatical leave replacement and a leave of absence replacement.

Appraisers Check

State appraisers are checking San Bernardino County property values to derive a key figure in the computation of state school aid that amounts statewide to 1 1/2 million dollars a day.

Richard Nevins, Member of the State Board of Equalization, said the survey just begun in this county is one of 20 such county surveys being conducted this year to bring up to date the findings based on surveys made three years ago.

Owners of properties appraised will be notified of the market value found by the survey and may inspect the appraisals.

The program, Nevins explained, helps to measure the taxable resources of a school district and determine that local schools get their proper share of state school funds. Other things being equal, the state furnishes more aid to school districts with limited taxable resources than to wealthy districts.

The average assessment level, expressed as a percentage of market value for all taxable property in the county, is announced annually as a preliminary figure on the third Monday in July. It is subject to change on or before August 23.

This county average is compared to the statewide average. If the county's assessed values conform substantially, no adjustment is needed. If the assessed values are far out of line, they will be changed to make the county's average conform with the average for the state. Nevins said, "Over $500 million in state funds, part of a larger amount of state education aid, will be shared by the state's 1,167 school districts under the equalization formula which employs these county and statewide averages."

This is but one of a half-dozen uses to which the assessment level percentages are put. Another important use is to determine the extent to which state loans to school districts for building construction are to be repaid.

The countywide average may also be used by a property taxpayer to help him decide whether his assessment is fair when compared to assessments of all other property in the county.

For better iced tea, make ice cubes of tea and use them in the tea. Make tea in the usual manner and of the correct strength you like. Then when the cubes melt, they do not weaken the tea.

Regular cotton broadcloth is the fabric most frequently used for men's dress shirts. Look for "2 by 2 broadcloth" on the label. This means the fabric is made with two-ply yarns and is extra strong.

We give scholarships to bright students.

If their grades aren't too high.

It doesn't take much vision to give scholarships to A students. But what about the kids who didn't lead storybook lives? Kids with the potential but not the grades. Like the boy who spent his study time bagging groceries so he could buy some. Or the girl who gave up studies and dates to be the nearest thing to a mother her brothers and sisters will remember. Or the late starter who finally realized that stuff like geometry builds bridges and makes airplanes fly.

Someone ought to help these young people. And one someone is the Gas Company. We're not changing the world, but we do have a scholarship program for emerging students in Central and South Central Los Angeles and Compton. We help pay their way through school. And we offer them good paying summer jobs.

Of course the youngsters our scholarship board picks have to be college material. But we don't want any A students. Everyone else takes care of them. We're looking for something harder to find.

Eye Accidents

The society says that ninety per cent of the eye injuries due to industrial and school lab accidents can be prevented through proper safety precautions.

Buy Now, Sell Later Plan Proposed By Realtors

By Milton Stone, pres.
Ontario-Upland Board of Realtors

Homebuyers now often buy with the expectation of selling in five years or so.

While their reasons are sound enough, the attitude represents a change over the traditional one of putting down roots to stay. It is more realistic. For some years the average homebuyer in California has kept his home for about that long before he sold and moved.

The change in attitude is more apparent among young people who have not experienced, as their parents may have, a time when a new house, like a new automobile, decreased in value as soon as someone started using it. Again, the attitude is more realistic.

The price of an older house, meaning one 20 or 30 years old, is often only 15% to 20% less than a new house in a neighborhood with comparable advantages. While every property, whatever its age or style, has attributes or faults which are reflected in its value, this narrowing cost differential between new and old is creating a new kind of buyer.

He is less interested in possible fluctuations in market value than he is in other factors. How far is it to work? How big will his family be in five years? What does the neighborhood have to offer in the way of schools, churches, shopping, and recreation?

Because very few young families can accurately predict their situation five years hence, they buy for the short range future. It gives them mobility. At the same time, it continues to build an investment in the form of equity in real estate.

Notice of Sale of Property Delinquent for Nonpayment of Bond No. 393, Series No. 12, Issued for the improvement of sewers Default having been made in the payment of the following named coupons June 1966, $13.55; December 1966, $49.66; June 1967, $8.41; December 1967, $48.60; June 1968, $7.48; December 1968, $47.67; June 1969, $6.54 and the holder of said bond having demanded in writing that the Treasurer of the City of Montclair proceed to advertise and sell the lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond. Now, therefore, I give notice that I will on the 19th day of September, 1969, at the hour of 10:00 o'clock a.m., of said day, sell at public auction the lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond, or so much thereof as may be necessary at Montclair City Council Chambers, 5111 Benito Street, Montclair, unless the amount due on said bond and the accrued interest thereon together with the cost of the publication of this notice are paid; and that I will so sell the same to the person who will take the least amount of said lot or parcel of land and pay the full amount of unpaid principal and interest on said bond, together with costs of publication. The lot or parcel of land mentioned in said bond and to be sold, is more particularly described, to wit: Lot 5 Tract 6026.

The amount due on said bond up to the date of this notice is as follows: Due on the principal thereof, Four Hundred and One Dollars and 93/100 dollars ($401.93); due on account of interest Sixty-one and 21/100 dollars ($61.21); due on account of penalties Thirty-nine and 74/100 dollars ($39.74); Total amount due on said bond Five Hundred and Two Dollars and 88/100 dollars ($502.88).

In order to avoid this sale, payment of the total amount above named will be required together with the cost of publications made before such payment and the additional interest accruing up to the date of payment. Bond may be reinstated upon payment of amounts due, interest, penalties, and fees, in the manner provided by law.

In the event of sale, such sale will include interest in addition to the above total amount due accruing up to date of sale, the cost of publication of notice of sale, and one dollar ($1) for the issuing of certificate of sale. The Montclair Tribune is designated as the newspaper in which this notice shall be published.

Dated August 27, 1969,
Treasurer
of the City of Montclair
Montclair Tribune No. 1760
Published August 28, September 4, 1969

For these reasons, one of the most popular classes of houses are those four or five years old. Such houses have settled into their surroundings with landscaping, established schools, shopping and other attributes visible and not in the planning stage. Faults, if there are any, in the house or built-in appliances have had time to show themselves and be fixed. The houses are modern in style, floor plan, and labor-saving devices.

One of the most important advantages of a house in that age bracket, however, is that it is usually easier to finance than an older house. It may even be possible to take over the existing loan, either with a down payment to that figure, or through a combination of down payment and second trust deed.

A second trust deed is a mortgage against the house, collectible in the event of a sale only after the first trust deed amount owed is satisfied. Interest rates are higher and the term is shorter, usually for three to five years.

For the family expecting to sell in five years or so, the second trust deed is another form of saving and a way of getting into better financial condition to buy again with a wider choice of homes.

Another reason for emergence of the shorter range buyer is the ability of young people to qualify for mortgage financing. Thanks to almost full employment, higher educational level, and a rising percentage of people under 30 in the work force, their earnings are higher sooner.

The total effect is for a generally more responsible housing market because it is active, not as tightly tied to long-range goals of individual families.

As any Realtor or other real estate broker knows, an active responsive market is ideal, not only because it is his stock in trade. That kind of market offers his clients a wide choice in neighborhoods, architectural styles, price ranges and potential for finding just the right house and the satisfaction of owning such a house.

Used in astronomy, the word, parsec is a coined expression from the combination of parallax and second. One parsec equals 3.26 light years.

Utilities Owned By Cities Contribute Little In Taxes

SACRAMENTO, July 22 - Gas and electric utilities owned and operated by California local governments or public districts pay no school taxes or state income taxes, and in most instances pay "little or no local property taxes," Howard P. Allen, vice president, Southern California Edison Company, testified here today during a hearing conducted by the State Assembly revenue and taxation committee on AB 1618.

The bill would impose an excise tax on government-owned electric and gas utilities in the state at the rate of 14 percent on the retail operating revenues of electrical systems and 7 percent on the retail revenues of gas operations. This would be equivalent to the rates paid by California investor-owned systems. The measure was introduced by Assemblyman William T. Bagley (Rep. - San Rafael), chairman of the revenue and taxation committee.

State and local tax payments by investor-owned utilities currently average about 14 percent for the principal electric utilities, Allen said.

"Total payments (by investor-owned electric and gas utilities) of state income taxes, local property taxes and local franchise taxes for the year 1968 were approximately $245 million," the Edison executive said.

If the government-owned utilities paid the same percentage of their operating revenues to support state and local governments, including schools, as is being paid by investor-owned utility companies (as proposed in AB 1618), new tax revenues from this source would exceed $50 million, according to Allen. Of this amount, about $25 million would be earmarked for schools.

He said "the economic impact of taxes upon utilities... necessarily falls upon the customer," and thus the customers of investor-owned companies "are paying substantially more toward the cost of government in California than are other Californians" who are the customers of government-owned utilities.

"We have long believed," Allen said, "that the gas and electric systems of municipalities and districts are not true governmental operations. They are business functions and should be treated like other businesses when it comes to paying the tax burdens of state and local government and schools."

He said home owners, businesses and farmers in cities or areas served by government-owned gas or electric systems pay little or no taxes in their utility bills, while those in areas served by investor-owned systems pay state and local taxes "equal to 14 percent on electricity and 7 percent on gas."

The Edison spokesman said areas in the state that have "tax-exempt utility rates" have an unfair advantage in attracting new industry.

"Many times, our company has tried to attract new industry to a city in our service area," Allen said, "and we have been confronted by competition from cities with government-owned utilities whose electric rates are lower because they do not pay taxes."

"This is an unjust discrimination among California cities and areas because of the tax exemption of government-owned utilities," Allen said. The proponent of AB 1618 said "tax reform is needed to provide property tax relief, additional income for schools, and to close loopholes which produce inequities among taxpayers."

"An excise tax on government-owned utilities would provide about $25 million in additional revenues for school districts in the areas served by such utilities without increasing property taxes on home owners," Allen said.

In response to the argument that government-owned utilities make in-lieu tax payments to the cities only and "no tax payment is made to support schools, county government or state government."

"If it makes sense for them to make an in-lieu payment to a city in the first instance," Allen said, "then why shouldn't the in-lieu payment be equivalent to city property taxes and taxes in support of schools, the state and the county?"

Allen submitted an exhibit which purports to show that government-owned utilities make between 9 and 55 percent "profit" or "income" after expenses and interest payments. The figures, he said, are based on reports to the State Controller. "Technically, they are non-profit organizations," Allen said, "but they do have 'income' left over after expenses and interest, the same as any business."

Government-owned utilities and their customers receive the same benefits of services as investor-owned systems and their customers, Allen said.

"They use the same county roads," he said, "and the same state highways; they receive the same police and fire protection and their children use the same schools, the same state colleges and state universities."

WHISKEY RICKEY
Into each tall glass, put two or three ice cubes, then add 2 ounces blended whiskey, the juice and silvered rind of half a lime, and club soda to fill. Stir and garnish with colorful fruits—grapes, orange sections, cucumber slices and mint sprigs, berries, lemon or lime slices. A fifth of whiskey makes 12 long drinks, a quart makes 16.

Crowd Control Workshop Outlined

The California Inter-scholastic Federation in conjunction with the California Association of Secondary School Administrators, District Councils 18 and 19 will sponsor a Workshop on Control of Athletic Contests, Aug. 26 and 27 at the University of Southern California.

Confrontations between students, itinerant visitors, and young adults, in and out of stadiums, across the land, have been growing with alarming frequency. The CIF feels that the development of systematic organizational plans in crowd control at athletic events is necessary if the educational values of athletic contests are truly significant. It is also important to strengthen human relations between competing schools of different ethnic origins.

J. Kenneth Fagans, Commissioner of the CIF, is chairman of the Steering and Conference Planning Committee. Dr. Richard Perry, Associate Professor of Physical Education at USC is the conference coordinator. The planning committee is composed of Mr. Fagans, Dr. Perry, Winston Nelson, Superintendent of Pomona Unified School District, Ted Gossard, Principal of Aviation High School, Ed Moore, Vice Principal at Miraleste High School, William Barnes, Long Beach Unified School District, and Lou Joseph, CIF office.

Speakers at the First General Session on Tuesday, Aug. 26th will be John McKay, head football coach, University of Southern California, Frank P. Bolden, Director, Department of Health, Physical Education, Athletics and Safety, Public Schools of District of Columbia and Robert Wirth, Stadium Manager, Parma Public Schools of Parma, Ohio. The Honorable Evelle J. Younger, District Attorney, Los Angeles County is tentatively scheduled for the luncheon address the first day of the workshop.

This workshop will be a working conference for those in attendance, as management action papers will be developed. It is expected that over 300 administrators, athletic directors, coaches and members of community groups will be present.

There is no admission charge for attendance. The first general session will begin promptly at 8:45 a.m. in USC's Board Auditorium. Participants will then divide into smaller groups and discuss the following areas of concern: Game site Systems Program, Community Systems Support Programs, Schools Systems Support Program, and Public Media Systems Support Program.

WHO MADE THE FIRST DOG BISCUIT? PROBABLY THE BAKERS OF ANCIENT ROME. TO SATISFY THEIR WEALTHY CUSTOMERS WHO OWNED PETS, THEY BAKED DOG BISCUITS ALONG WITH CAKES AND BREAD.

FOR LETTING HIS DOG'S HAIR GO UNTRIMMED FOR 7 YEARS, A MAN IN CHATHAM ENGLAND WAS FINED $8.40.

IF YOU SEE YOUR DOG SHEDDING HAIR AND PESTERING YOU, HE MIGHT HAVE AN IRRITATING ALLERGY CALLED ECZEMA. A MEDICATION CALLED ENDOXIN, WHICH CAN BE FED TO YOUR PET IN TASTY TABLET OR LIQUID FORM, WILL RELIEVE THESE SYMPTOMS. ENDOXIN IS AVAILABLE AT PET SHOPS AND PET DEPARTMENTS.

Barber Shop Quartets

Pomona Valley's chapter of the Sweet Adelines, devotees of good, old barber-shop harmony, have now jumped to a membership of 45 for this area.

The Sweet Adeline members not only provide top-flight entertainment at various civic and community events throughout the year.

One example was a concert in Hollywood Bowl last Sunday, where quartets from throughout the Southland joined in for a full concert of barber-shop melodies.

The skill of barber-shop singing was emphasized as one with four-part harmony, and no musical instrument to help the voices along.

USC Offers Courses

Ten courses, designed to aid practicing attorneys in the development of their careers, will be offered during the Fall semester by the University of Southern California Law Center's Advanced Professional Program.

Taught by distinguished attorneys and special guest lecturers, the classes will meet once a week for 15 weeks, beginning Sept. 4, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. at USC Law Center.

Aviation Accident Law, to meet Tuesdays, beginning Sept. 9, will be taught by private pilot and attorney, Daniel C. Cathcart. The legal and scientific causative factors of aviation accident litigation will be covered, with an introduction in the fundamentals of navigation and federal air regulations.

Judges William E. MacFaden, Lester E. Olson, Marvin A. Freeman and William P. Hogoboom of the Los Angeles Superior Court will present a course Wednesdays, beginning Sept. 10, in Family Law 1969, an examination of the new Domestic Relations Act. Emphasis will be on the relationship with the conciliation court, custody, alimony, support, community property, attorneys' fees and costs, as well as annulment, adoption, paternity actions, and modification.

Two courses in Taxation will be offered. State and Federal Corporate Securities Law: Some Problems of Congenerics or Conglomerates will be given Tuesdays, beginning Sept. 9, by Bradley Jones of Jones and Maupin, and Howard D. Sterling of Rikkind and Sterling. Corporate Taxation will be taught by Dudley Land and John E. Scheffly of Willis, Butler and Scheffly, Wednesday evenings beginning Sept. 10.

Robert Y. Libott of Keatinge & Sterling, will teach the course entitled "The Law of Intellectual Property", Thursday evenings beginning Sept. 4. It will cover problems of idea protection, trademarks, copyrights, trade marks and names, and "what to do till the patent counsel comes".

Business Planning will be based on a series of problems involving common business transactions which present corporate and tax issues for analysis and resolution in a clinical and planning text. The course will be instructed by Alan D. Liker, also of Keatinge & Sterling, Thursday evenings, beginning Sept. 4.

Martin L. Glass, assistant counsel for the US Department of the Navy, will teach Government Contracts on Tuesdays, beginning Sept. 9.

Law and Medicine, to be taught Mondays beginning Sept. 8, by Leo Gelfand, M.D., will emphasize the dynamics involved in medico-legal litigation, rather than purely technical information.

The growth cycle of professional sports has prompted an 11-week Industry Study of Professional Sports, directed by Irwin O. Spiegel, and co-instructed by Alan L. Rothenberg of Manatt & Phelps, and Paul Caruso. This unique seminar will meet Wednesdays beginning Sept. 10 from 8 to 10 p.m. in the USC Faculty Center, rather than the Law Center, to allow informality over dessert and coffee. Distinguished sports executives, attorneys and media men will discuss the structure of team sports, contracts, antitrust laws, and representation of the athlete.

Local CLASSIFIED

Selling is more than a sale - it's a service! That's the motto of Marge Carter, director of the special Classified Ads for this newspaper.

Why does our blonde and bubbly Miss Carter say selling is service - because only through the Classified Ads can the "little guy" find a buyer - or what he needs to buy. More than any other section of your wonderful newspaper, Classified Ads bring about a people-to-people program - where the PROFIT is in YOUR pocket - and that old adage is switched to "I can get it for you LESS than wholesale."

Miss Carter has learned every trick to make every tiny ad stand out - she combines clever copy with flawless art - and backs it all up with over a decade of experience.

Now really, wouldn't you rather have cash in your pocket, than Aunt Tilly's white elephant in your garage?

Believe it or not, someone, somewhere, reading this page right now, wants Aunt Tilly's elephant.

Marge Carter brings the sellers together with the cash buyers - so put cash in YOUR pocket with an instant ad-just.....

Angels Angles

by Con Lacy

Editor's Note: Watch for this Feature Column every week in this paper.

It's an all-new Angels in Pomona this week with completion of an entire store reorganization. In response to complaints from regular Angels fans, that the aisles were too crowded and merchandise too hard to find, Doug Haskins, the new Pomona store manager has literally torn the store apart and put it back together in an orderly form.

Doug made an inch-by-inch survey of the entire store and immediately started re-arranging gondolas and display merchandise to clear the aisles for basket shoppers. Now two carts can easily pass in every aisle, and you find electrical items in the electrical department, paint items in the paint department, household items in the housewares department, etc.

It's a great idea Doug—why didn't somebody think of it before?

Angels fans this week have been amazed at the transformation and the improvements made by the dynamic young manager, after having been on duty only a few days.

Of course, the transformation in the store didn't come easily. Doug and the Angels team put in a lot of overtime evening work to make your shopping easier at the world's largest Home Improvement Center.

If you wonder how a new manager could accomplish so much in so short a time, Doug isn't exactly a stranger to Pomona and the Angels organization.

Doug's promotion to manager is a "home-town-boy-makes-good" story. Young in years, but old in experience, the 31-year old Haskins served his apprenticeship as a salesman and department manager in the Pomona store. From here he moved up to head Angels centralized warehousing facility that serves all the Angels stores.

ANGELS MANAGEMENT TEAM—Doug Haskins (left) points out new Angels floor plan to Assistant Ken Lindley at Angels Home Improvement Center.

Now he is back home in Pomona filling one of the top jobs in the entire organization. Doug is a Montclair resident at 10241 Mills Avenue, and just has to commute across the street and down Mills to the Angels store.

After living in Montclair for the past nine years, Doug knows what the local people want, and by golly, he says he's going to give it to them.

Doug knows thousands of people in this area, and some who know him, may not recognize his connection with Angels. So, we're running his picture this week in this column, so you know who the boss is at Angels Pomona.

If you have any problems finding what you want, or want any new items stocked, just look for Doug. He's a friendly, neighborly young man, and he's there to make sure you get the best service, the best quality, and the best values anywhere in town.

Doug's assistant and right arm is Kenneth Lindley, a resident of the nearby city of Walnut at 842 S. Darius Avenue. Ken wasn't always an Angel. He is probably better known as a Cub—that is a member of the Chicago Cubs baseball organization. He started for the Cubs, way back in 1955, and then took a few years off for a service stint. He was back with the Cubs in 1959 and 1960. He came into the Angels organization in 1965, and has served in a variety of capacities, starting from the ground floor and working up.

So all you baseball fans, come in and say Hi to Ken. He's in charge of the store when Doug is gone, and so you can bring him any questions or problems you may have.

When you see Doug and Ken on duty at your favorite home improvement store, be sure to tell them that you read about them in this newspaper.

We haven't said much about Angels in this week's column, cause we know all you readers know all about Angels Home Improvement Centers. In case any of you newcomers are wondering about Angels—Why it's the world's greatest home improvement center. Angels slogan is "everything for the homeowner and the builder." And by gosh, that's literally true.

If you want lumber, Angels has a complete line of lumber—not just a few wood items, but literally everything necessary to build a whole house. If it's hardware, or plumbing, or electrical, or paint, or garden supplies, or housewares, or sporting goods, Angels has the whole line.

You old-time Angels customers know if you can't find an item anywhere else in town—Angels will have it—and at the most competitive price. Watch for Angels newspaper advertisement every Thursday in this newspaper, and compare Angels prices with other advertised prices anywhere. Compare, be convinced, and then stop in and see Doug and Ken at 655 N. Mills in Pomona.

Air California Establishes New Fiesta Service To Bay

NEWPORT BEACH—Air California will become the first commuter airline in history to offer two levels of customer service on Sept. 3, when it begins Fiesta Service on flights between Northern and Southern California.

Dudley P. Miller, vice president of marketing, said the addition of Fiesta Service will enable passengers to enjoy a selection of complementary cocktails, hors d'oeuvres, wines, champagnes, foods and desserts in flight.

Fiesta Service passengers will select seating upon making flight reservations and will occupy the forward section of the airline's Boeing 737 sun-jets.

The airline's fleet of six Boeing 737's will undergo a cabin modification to permit installation of new Fiesta Service decor in the forward portion of the cabin. New carpeting and seat covering materials and a honeycombed metal and drapery divider are to be installed in the Fiesta section, Miller said.

Regular commuter service will remain unchanged, with complementary in-flight soft drinks and coffee service. The commuter section of the aircraft will be separated from the forward section by the divider.

"Fiesta Service will, in no way, detract from the regular high level of service now offered to Air California commuters," Miller said. "Rather, it complements the present level of service by adding an even higher level of service for the large number of travelers who have requested additional in-flight food and beverage services normally associated with first class airline travel."

Air California's Fiesta Service fares will be from 20 to 27 per cent below the existing first class fares in the so-called California Corridor, between the greater Los Angeles-San Francisco metropolitan areas, Miller said.

One-way Fiesta Service fares, excluding tax, are: between Orange County-Ontario and San Jose-Oakland and between Orange County and San Francisco, $23.33; between Hollywood/Burbank and San Jose-Oakland, $21.19. Children's half-fares and military standby two thirds fares also will be available.

Pettis' Constituents Divided

Residents in the 33rd Congressional District are evenly split on whether the United States should gradually withdraw its troops from Vietnam regardless of the outcome of Paris negotiations, a poll by Rep. Jerry L. Pettis, R-Loma Linda, indicates.

Of those who responded to the poll, 33 per cent favored withdrawal, 34 per cent were undecided. However, the same people favored (62 per cent) renewed bombing of North Vietnam if the talks failed. Fifteen per cent said "no" to renewed bombing and 23 per cent were undecided.

Fifty-three per cent said they favored an agreement between the United States and Hanoi to withdraw all outside forces and leave the fighting to the South Vietnamese. Thirty-three per cent were against the proposal, while 34 per cent were undecided.

On other subjects, 69 per cent favored abolition of the Electoral College and election of the President by direct popular vote. Ten per cent said "no" and 21 per cent were undecided.

On the question of all-volunteer armed forces, 42 per cent said "yes," 48 per cent "no" and 10 per cent were undecided. The group favored conversion of the post office into a government-owned corporation as a self-supporting operation by a 77 to 16 per cent margin, and dismantling of the Office of Economic Opportunity with transfer of its functions to various departments, 70 to 16 per cent.

The most unanimity came when Pettis, R-Loma Linda, asked if his constituents favored the requirement Congress voted last year that all able-bodied persons over 16 years of age receiving welfare under the Aid to Families with Dependent Children Program must participate in a work-training program to receive aid. An overwhelming 92 per cent supported the requirement, 3 per cent said they were opposed and 5 per cent were undecided.

POMONA -- Resources of the inland Bank of Pomona Valley increased by more than $4.5 million since last year, President Wilson H. Asdel reported recently in a financial statement of condition as of June 30, 1969.

Total resources were $32,224,743 compared to $27,583,654 last year. Deposits increased $3,262,209 to $27,530,082. There has been a $212,031 increase in capital.

Earnings for the six-month period ending June 30 were $89,361 compared with $68,510 for the corresponding period in 1968, an increase of 30.4 per cent.

Mr. Asdel reported that new programs initiated by the bank last year greatly contributed to its growth.

One was the Expandacount, a ready reserve for customers who have both a checking account and an Inland Bank Master Charge credit card. Funds under the plan are automatically transferred to the customer's checking account from a line of credit in his Master Charge account as needed.

The bank also began offering a computer service for its customers.

Women IN THE KNOW

By Jean Kingsley, Women's Consultant,
The Travelers Companies

Inflation Fever—
And The Dollar Doctors

The incredible shrinking dollar isn't just a housewife's headache. It's got the best brains in the country heading for Washington to consult with Congress and the President. Do they pull back that 7% investment credit allowed businessmen who build new plants? Expand employment? Do they keep on that surtax to hold down spending? How do you stem the never-ending demand for new products and services that our population explosion gives birth to? And, if you slam on the brakes too fast, how do you stop a beautiful boom from becoming a bust?

DO
...go in for some old-fashioned bargain hunting! Comparison-shop your usual markets and department stores. Look for "in-season" meats, fruits, vegetables. Set a monthly food budget and STICK to it. How? Buy staples first and when you get down to the end, it's budget meals instead of filet mignon to finish out the week. Do the same thing with family trips. Try the "off-season" vacation—the cheaper-rate charter-bus or charter-plane deal you can swing if you get a whole group involved and interested.

DON'T
...give in to impulse buying for things you don't really need (and will actively hate later). When it comes to installment buying, don't sign your name before you know, to the last penny, what interest and carrying charges are. And don't neglect the long-range planning for big expenses: medical, education, home-buying, ultimate retirement. Every area that you don't know about has a qualified expert who can help. Take for instance, the familiar figure of The Travelers man in your community. He's now a family financial planner with top expertise! And a lot of the answers that can help Mother take inflation's temperature and begin to bring its fever down.

Philippines Experiencing Brain Drain, USC Scientist

LOS ANGELES - Complicating her inability to make full use of vast land and marine resources, the Republic of the Philippines is experiencing a "brain drain," according to a University of Southern California scientist who recently returned from Manila.

Many young Filipinos go abroad to study and don't return, and many others leave the country to seek opportunity elsewhere after completing their education in the Philippines. Dr. Donn S. Gorsline, USC professor of geological sciences, of geological sciences, said in an interview.

Dr. Gorsline spent six weeks recently in Manila and traveling throughout the Philippines as a technical adviser in oceanography for the United Nations Development Program.

"The country's economy, although developing, is simply not able yet to make full use of its resources, human or natural," he said.

"The universities are producing bright young persons, but the economy can't absorb them. Pay for professional persons is low. The college and university graduates realize they can make a better living in other countries."

"Consequently, many of them emigrate to the U.S., Canada, and Europe, leaving too few scientists, specialists in various fields and other professionals in the Philippines," the USC educator said.

A major element of the Philippines' economic problems is the fact that perhaps 40 to 50 percent of the nation's wealth is controlled by about 5 percent of the people.

"Government leaders are becoming increasingly conscious of the need to develop a true middle class," he said.

Three other major economic deficiencies in the Philippines, Gorsline believes, are the inefficient transportation, and shortages of capital and usable industrial power supplies.

Despite these difficulties, political leaders appear to be youthful and aggressive in their programs to build up the nation, he said.

Other valuable assistance is coming from outside the nation, as well.

Dr. Gorsline said the United Nations, for example, has done "tremendous work" in helping to establish and conduct, in co-operation with Philippine scientists, the Rice Project, which has developed new strains of the staple grain.

"Until recently, the Philippines had to import rice, but as a result of this project, they will be able to export rice within a couple of years," the USC educator reported.

"Also, there are signs of increased international co-operation among the Philippines and her Southeast Asian neighbors in industrial and natural resource development."

After spending weeks inspecting Philippine coastal and offshore areas and interviewing government people at all levels, scientists and industry personnel, Dr. Gorsline is convinced the nation's marine resources are considerable.

"There is a great potential for coastal and offshore mining, and it appears that offshore petroleum deposits will prove to be commercially plentiful. The seafood industry also has a vast potential for expansion and modernization."

"The first thing which should be done is to get exploration of these resources underway. This program should include training Filipinos in the marine sciences. When an accelerated exploration becomes a reality, it will help stimulate industrial use of the nation's resources," Dr. Gorsline said.

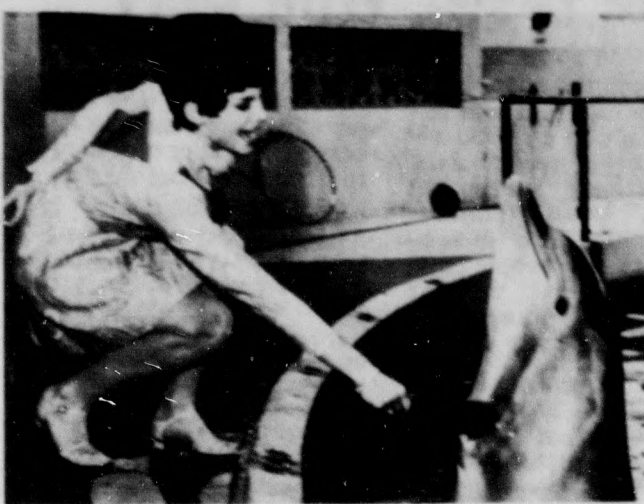

He said he recommended U. N. assistance for such programs.

Gorsline, who joined the USC faculty in 1962, is a researcher with the university's Allan Hancock Foundation in addition to his teaching post with the Department of Geological Sciences.

He is active in marine geological research, frequently participating in expeditions aboard USC's research vessel, Velerio IV.

The USC scientist is a graduate of Montana School of Mines and USC, where he earned the master's and Ph.D. degrees.

Five Simple Rules Make Life Easier With DMV

"Observing five simple rules would make life much easier for thousands of California motorists in our auto-oriented civilization," said Manager L. Roy Stokes of the Upland Department of Motor Vehicles office.

"The trouble that comes from not following the rules is often blamed on the DMV bureaucracy. This is understandable. DMV is concerned with 12.5 million vehicles, 11.5 million drivers and 500 pages of the California Vehicle Code. All the more reason to avoid getting caught in the machinery."

Here are Stokes' five pointers:

1. If you sell a car person-to-person, hand the buyer the keys only when you are satisfied that he will promptly take your signed pink slip to DMV and transfer ownership to his name. It takes two to make a contract, and though you report the car sold, the record can't be changed until the buyer confirms the transaction. Subsequent owners' traffic citations are making life miserable for many people right now-long after the car they "sold" was driven away from their doors.

Your best bet is for you and the buyer to go to the nearest DMV office and complete all the paper work on the spot.

2. Report every change of address to DMV. Once as a driver; once as a vehicle owner. Apply this formula to every driver and vehicle owner in your household. At registration renewal time DMV mails renewal cards to the last address on record. If you no longer live there, chances are you will never get a renewal notice and your license plate will enter next year without next year's sticker. Then your troubles may begin. Thousands of motorists come to grief by assuming that a notice to the post office is enough.

If you are unable to go to the local office, you may phone and ask them to send you necessary forms, one for each driver and one for each vehicle in your family. When filled out, they may be mailed to Sacramento.

3. Renew your driver's license on time. You may turn in your expiring license for a new one up to six months before your "renewal" birthday. It will still be dated from that birthday, and be good for four years. If you renew too late, DMV may have to give you a license good for only three years instead of four.

4. Carry insurance. Without it, a collision may cost you your driving privilege and your car registration. If anyone is hurt or more than $200 in damage occurred, the crash must be reported to DMV. The department is required to enforce the financial responsibility law against anyone who can't show that he can make damage payments if he is at fault.

5. Visit your DMV office early in the day in the middle of the week. You'll get fastest, least crowded service then.

Television Series To Focus On Breakdown Of Law & Order

An 18 week, 54 half-hour television course taking up the challenge imposed by the President's Crime Commission in its concern about the breakdown of law and order and personal anxiety about individual safety will be televised on KNXT-CBS starting September 15, and will be seen each Monday, Wednesday, and Friday morning, 6:30-7:00 a.m.

Odyssey: "Psychiatry and Criminal Justice" is sponsored by the University of Southern California and KNXT-CBS. Academic credit will be offered by the School of Public Administration; certificate credit will be offered by the Gould School of Law, the School of Public Administration, and University College.

National attention is focussed on issues of crime: A steeply rising crime rate, increasing civil violence and political assassinations, riots, growing student unrest and disorder, an epidemic of dangerous drug abuse, and mushrooming juvenile delinquency.

The President's Crime Commission, concerned about "crime in a free society," has challenged interested citizens and participants in the criminal justice system to become knowledgeable about criminal law, the operation of the system of criminal justice and problems related to socially deviant conduct. This television course is the first full semester academic course on television to direct itself to issues of the Criminal justice system. It is an educational program for professionals, workers and students in the field of criminal justice, as well as for concerned and interested citizens.

Dr. Pollack is Professor of Psychiatry, School of Medicine, Department of Psychiatry, School of Public Administration; Lecturer, Gould School of Law; Director, Institute of Psychiatry and Law for Judiciary, and Institute of Psychiatry, Law and Behavioral Science, at the University of Southern California. John Miner is Head, Medical College Section, Deputy District Attorney, Los Angeles County and Instructor, USC Institute of Psychiatry, Law and Behavioral Science.

Some of the program titles will be "Psychiatry and the Police," "The Violent Offender," "Social Control of Morality," "Psychological Factors in Social Violence," "The Juvenile Offender," "The Sex Offender," "Confession and Guilty Plea," "The Insanity Defense," "Capital Punishment," "Concepts of Correctional Rehabilitation," "The White Collar Offender," "Judicial Sentencing," "Civil Commitment of the Criminal Offender."

Registration for credit and other information about "Psychiatry and Criminal Justice" is available through Jim Mathes, Director of Broadcast Production, University of Southern California, Los Angeles, California 90007.

LAW REVISIONS

Criminal law and the System of Criminal Justice are in a state of ferment. Throughout the nation, criminal-legal systems are being scrutinized. Revisions of criminal law and penal codes are already under way in many states. Searching questions have been directed to the System of Criminal Justice to its problems of organization, internal conflicts, and divergent goals, to its overall effectiveness and value of its product, and finally to its differences with other systems in our society, such as the political, economic, educational, social welfare, and medical systems. "Psychiatry and Criminal Justice," examines concepts of criminal justice; provides information about the operation of the Criminal Justice System; and explores differences in the four subdivisions of this System, (1) police and law enforcement; (2) prosecution and defense; (3) the judiciary, and (4) corrections, which at times are in conflict.

Control over the conduct of citizens via the legal system based upon community acceptance of laws and a favorable attitude toward the official machinery of government. Criminal Justice, in this sense, becomes a reflection of accepted concepts of social attitudes and conduct. "Psychiatry and Criminal Justice" examines how psychiatric concepts contribute to changing social attitudes and patterns of behavior that relate to criminal law and the machinery of law enforcement.

CONFUSION EXISTS

Considerable confusion and misunderstanding exist today about the contributions of psychiatry to criminal justice. Many hold unrealistic expectations of what, how, and how much psychiatry and other behavioral sciences can contribute to the substantive and procedural aspects of criminal justice. Such exaggerated expectations lead to frustrations and dissension. They reduce or prevent meaningful and productive interdisciplinary collaboration. Students will hopefully conclude from "Psychiatry and Criminal Justice," enlightened and realistic appraisal of these contributions.

The objectives of "Psychiatry and Criminal Justice" are informational and educational and not designed to influence the student toward a liberal, moderate, or conservative point of view about criminal justice. The course neither promotes a "soft, permissive treatment approach" toward the juvenile or adult criminal offender, nor does it advance a "strong, punitive, retributive position" as the one to deter criminal conduct. Rather, the theme that permeates this course is that criminal justice is an invaluable reflection of concepts of social justice. "Psychiatry and Criminal Justice" should be of interest to all professionals and workers in criminal law and in the Criminal Justice System. The course has theoretical and practical value for the judiciary as well as for trial attorneys, both prosecution and defense. Law enforcement officers as well as agents active in adult and juvenile probation and parole agencies, and those in correctional institutions will find the course useful in their day to day work. Mental health professionals, particularly psychiatrists, psyworkers, involved with the criminal offender or delinquent patient, will be provided with a picture of the offender as he moves through the various steps of the Criminal Justice System. Analysis of the System will demonstrate how its forces impinge upon and affect their patient or client.

"Psychiatry and Criminal Justice" will be of interest to all citizens concerned with contemporary social issues, and especially valuable for students in Schools and Departments of Public Administration, Police Science, Criminal Justice, Criminology, Corrections, Sociology, Psychology, Political Science, Social Work, Education, Religion, Law and Medicine.

Thomas Vineyards Getting Face - Lift

Thomas Vineyards, 8916 Foothill Blvd., Cucamonga, is owned and operated by the Joseph Filippi Family, well-known area vintners.

The family has been growing grapes and making fine wines for many generations, having their beginnings in the north of Italy, near Venice.

In 1922 Joseph Filippi and his father, Giovanni, came to the United States and settled in the Cucamonga area where they planted their first 20-acre vineyard.

Today, some 46 years later, Joseph Filippi and his son, Joe Jr., are still following the family profession. The own and operate approximately 300 acres of vineyards producing some of California's choice wines.

The family particularly specializes in aged and properly blended wines.

ESTABLISHED IN 1839

The winery, established in 1839 by Tiburcio Tapia, was damaged in the floods of January and February, but the firm was closed only a few days during the worst of the Cucamonga Creek flooding.

Reconstruction and remodeling is still going on. The retail sales room has been restored and still features the scale on which people may weigh themselves, and many early California antiques.

REPAIR DAMAGE

The restored office within the retail sales room has been paneled using the staves from the barrel which used to be standing at the rear of the main building. Topped and broken in the floods, the huge barrels could no longer be used to walk into, or for storing wine, and so the wood was used in the paneling. Some of the barrels had been at least 150 years old.

A new opening has been made from the retail sales room into the new wine cellar which has been restored for the holding of wine barrels. Before the cellar could only be reached from the outside of the building.

Additionally, the far eastern end of the building, hit hardest in the floods and also containing huge storage barrels for the wine, is being renewed.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Filippi traveled to New York in April to find replacements for the many wine storage barrels lost in the floods.

"We bought a carload of barrels, she said. The barrels were originally used to ship Brandy from the United States to Spain and return. The several hundred they bought had 'only been used once,' she said. The Filippis also bought larger 50 gallon barrels and 160-180 gallon barrels to replace larger ones lost.

The gift shop, begun just a year before the flood, has been almost completely restored. Added have been a new line of seasonings and an enlarged gourmet section featuring the Harry and David line of canned fruit.

The Filippis also plan shortly to pave the parking area in front of the winery, and to erect a fence at the rear of the property.

Mrs. Filippi says the fence will be constructed in such a way that any future flood waters are diverted around the winery.

Through all of the work, worry and reconstruction, Mrs. Filippi said, "the people have just been great!" She said many kindnesses had been shown by people throughout the area and that the Filippi family was grateful.

CHEESE TASTING

On Sundays the Winery offers cheese tasting in addition to wine tasting. According to Mrs. Joe Filippi, the acceptance of the cheese tasting idea has been so good, the cheese department has been sold out two Sundays in a row.

FUTURE PLANS

Among the plans for the future is the display of some old-time wine producing machinery including a "capper" and a display to show how wine bottles are filled.

The Thomas Vineyard Co. is designated as historical landmark no. 490. It was dedicated Sept. 9, 1950 by Ontario Parlor 251, Native Daughters of the Golden West and Los Ranchos Parlor 283, Native Sons of the Golden West.

The retail sales and tasting room is open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily.

Tapia Credited With Starting Mother Vineyard

Don Tiburcio Tapia has been credited with beginning the "Mother Vineyard" in the now famous Cucamonga wine producing district.

Tapia was 49 years old in 1838 when he applied to the Mexican Governor of California for a Land Grant. He had amassed considerable wealth from dealing in foodstuffs in Mexico, and had served the Mexican Government in various offices.

On receiving the grant, Tapia was instructed to "place fruit trees of some utility" on his land which covered about 13,000 acres, and to build a house within a year.

Since Tapia was familiar with wine growing, he decided he would plant grapes and produce fine wine. He did so and the vineyard thrived.

The first home Tapia built for his wife and daughter was crude, but in 1840 he built a three-room house of adobe bricks from soil dug from his vineyards.

This home is the one which stood until the January and February floods this year. The surging Cucamonga Creek, which spilled over its banks, took the home, leaving only the roof of the old home.

The next project for Tapia was the construction of his winery, with walls 20 inches thick. The winery, now called the Thomas Vineyards and located at 8916 Foothill Blvd., Cucamonga, was damaged severely in the same floods which took the early Tapia house. The house had stood immediately east of the winery.

The winery is currently being repaired and was closed only a few days during the height of the floods.

Legend says that Tapia prospered so well that he began buying gold and, eventually, hid the gold on Red Hill which rises in back of the winery. However, he died without revealing where the gold, if there was any, was hidden. The story has lured hundreds of gold-seekers to the Red Hill area over the years.

Tapia prospered and sold his Cucamonga Rancho wines to customers in Los Angeles and El Monte, to travelers passing by and to vaqueros on nearby ranches.

After Tapia died, his daughter Maria married and, with her husband, began building a large adobe home on the southeast side of Red Hill. The home is known locally as the John Rains home.

Through poor investments, by 1859 Maria and her husband had to sell the vast rancho and winery. It was purchased by John Rains who was married to Maria's cousin, also named Maria, who was part owner of the Santa Ana del Chino Rancho.

Rains and his brother-in-law, Robert Carlisle, were running the rancho and they apparently undertook contracts to supply beef to the Confederate states, and ran into trouble. By 1862 the rancho was again heavily mortgaged. That fall, Rains left on a trip to Los Angeles to talk with the Hellman Banking Associates who held mortgages on sections of the rancho. He was killed near the Mud Springs Stagecoach station (now San Dimas).

Rains' brother-in-law Carlisle acquired power of attorney to manage the ranch, but debts accumulated. Maria Rains tried to regain control, but was unable to do so.

More trouble ensued during which Carlisle, Ramon Cabrillo (who had been a friend of Rains) and Andy King, a Los Angeles lawyer, died in gun battles about the rancho.

In about 1900 George Haven bought the Rancho and began to operate the winery. In 1918 Haven's nephew H. H. Thomas came into possession of the remaining portion of the rancho and, with his son, operated the winery until it was purchased by the Joseph Filippi Family, the current owners.

SC Wine Industry Has Spanish, French Heritage

From Spain, Franciscan priests brought vines to California, planting them as they established their missions along the coast northward from San Diego. In 1830, winemaking was practiced in missions as far north as Sonoma but Southern California was the "wine capital."

At the time, the present city limits of Los Angeles contained more than 100,000 vines. Nearby, San Gabriel Mission was a major wine producer, outstripping all the others. (It was from San Gabriel that priests later came to land west of Redlands to establish a branch.)

COMMERCIAL

While the Franciscans were making wine and brandy for sacramental and hospitality purposes, Americans began commercial winemaking.

Southern California's first truly expert winemaker was Jean Louis Vignes from the fabled Bordeaux region of France who knew how to make barrels, wines, and distill brandy.

An established vineyardist in 1833, Vignes first imported aristocratic European varietals from France. These vines, together with the first orange trees in America, were planted by Vignes on 104 acres in what is now downtown Los Angeles.

Inspired by his letters from the New World, at least eight of Vignes' relatives left Bordeaux to join him in this new vineyard paradise. In 1839, when his nephew Pierre Sainsevain came to Los Angeles, Vignes boasted 40,000 vines, "a fine cellar," and a vast quantity of casks made by or under the supervision of - the old cooper, Vignes himself.

A year later, Vignes was "exporting" wines - all grown from his now famous Aliso Vineyards named for the giant sycamore at the entrance to his winery - to Santa Barbara, Monterey, and San Francisco.

Once again, French winemakers, lured by the salubrious California grape growing climate, appeared to practice the traditional family art. This was the Vache family which operated vineyards and a winery at Oleon, an island off the coast of the Bordeaux region.

By 1855 Vignes had retired, leaving his holdings to the Sainsevain brothers who were making wine in the Bordeaux tradition and opening branch sales rooms in San Francisco and New York.

1819 IN SB Co. In the San Bernardino county area, the first thought of establishing a winery had been the previously mentioned effort (in 1819) of the Spanish padres who founded a branch of Mission San Gabriel at the Indian village of Guachama near Redlands. Before the vineyards were planted, however, the Franciscans were dispossessed in 1836 by the Mexican government.

The 640-acre mission property was purchased by Dr. Benjamin Barton for $500 and in 1859 planted with 60,000 vines. Dr. Barton's brick home, west of the mission Asistencia on Barton road is a Redlands landmark today. (The Asistencia, a replica of the original outpost, was built by the San Bernardino Historical Society which brought an expert adobe brick and tile maker from Mexico to duplicate the structure.)

Theophile Vache had come to California in 1830, established a wine business, and planted the Valliant Vineyards near San Juan Bautista, inland from Monterey Bay. He was later joined by three nephews - Theophile the younger, Emile, and Adolphe. The family moved south to Los Angeles and formed a fine wine wholesaling business.

In 1882, when the opportunity to lease Dr. Barton's vineyards and winery arose, the Vaches welcomed the chance to practice winemaking in the warm San Bernardino County climate.

A year later Emile, Adolphe and Theophile the young built the Brookside Winery at Redlands Junction, the name being inspired by the Mill Creek channel dug by Indians to water the old Mission's crops.

A few years later another Brookside Winery was built in San Timoteo Canyon on land just below today's Redlands Community Hospital site.

One employee of the Vaches was Marius Biane whose family was noted as Bordeaux winemakers - and wine blenders and merchants at Auch in Southern France.

Marius married Adolphe's daughter Marcelline and began acquiring vineyard lands in the Cucamonga area while continuing winemaking operations at Redlands. With the development of the navel orange industry in the latter area, the expansion of citrus groves eventually induced the Biane family in 1916 to transfer operations toward Ontario.

Today the Brookside Winery headquarters are in Guasti, a small community adjacent to the Ontario Airport. Marius' son Philo is president of the Brookside Vineyard Company. In a continuation of the Bordeaux heritage, Philo's sons Michael and Pierre, and his nephew Rene work as fifth-generation members of the winemaking family.

Guasti is part of the general area explored by the Spaniard Juan Bautista de Anza on his first California expedition. It is named after its founder, Secondo Guasti, who came from Italy in 1900 and founded the Italian Vineyard Company - once known as the world's largest vineyard covering 5000 acres.

In a confusing bit of historical nomenclature, "Guasti" was originally the "Cucamonga" railway station of the Southern Pacific Railroad serving the settlement to the north. When the Santa Fe Railroad established its depot closer to the settlement, it became "Cucamonga" and the SP station "South Cucamonga." South Cucamonga was later named Guasti in honor of the founder of the old stone winery - and the nearby San Secundo d'Asti Church.

BLESSING OF THE GRAPES -- An annual event in Guasti, the rite here is conducted by the Rev. Emil Melee, pastor of San Secundo d'Asti Catholic Church in conjunction with the grape festival at adjacent Brookside Vineyards. The ceremonies originated in Europe's wine districts.

VINEYARD RESEARCHER -- Primo Scorsatto, chief chemist for Cucamonga Vineyard Co., plays important part in company research and development.

Regina Grape Products Co. Founded At Turn Of Century

Regina Grape Products Co., of Etiwanda was established in 1906 when Claudio Ellena came to America via Australia.

He was seeking the ideal climate and soil conditions for vineyards, for by heritage he was a vintner. His father's and grandfather's were well-known throughout Europe for their fine wine products.

John B. Ellena, son of Claudio, and current president of the local firm has carried on the tradition. He has expended every effort to perpetuate the family heritage, producing a top line of grape products and is recognized as a vintner of note.

Regina, located on Baseline ave. in Etiwanda, is also noted as a producer of fine wine vinegars. Since July, 1969, the Etiwanda firm has become the nation's leading producer of fine wine vinegar.

The Biblical days wine vinegar was the only vinegar known to man. According to information from Regina, the name "vinegar" comes from the French "vinagre" which is derived from the Latin "Vino" or "Wine".

WINE VINEGAR

Wine vinegar is non-alcoholic and is the only vinegar produced by nature. Great chiefs insist on it as it blends with and enriches the flavor of many foods as no other vinegar.

Regina offers a self-conducted winery tour. Visitors can "follow the arrows" thru the winery at their leisure, reading the explanations of the process as they walk along.

The tour ends in Regina's Tasting Room where adults can taste the vintages of their choice and children can have a sample of grape juice. Under construction, due for completion in December of this year, will be the Regina Winery Restaurant, immediately behind the tasting room.

Of particular interest to young people, but also fascinating to adults, are Regina's Lilliputian horses. The miniature horses, imported from Argentina, stand 24-27 inches high and weigh between 52 and 135 lbs. Each Sunday their trainer, Lis Shirley, hitches up a team and offers rides in a stagecoach to young visitors.

The Regina Winery was particularly proud this year when their horses produced two new additions one of them the first purchased Lilliputian horse to be born in the United States.

Regina also annually hosts the Cucamonga District Grape and Wine Festival, this year scheduled for Aug. 31 and Sept. 1. Ben Hunter will serve as master of ceremonies for the contests - grape stomping for the women and the cork popping for the men. This will be Hunter's third year in this capacity according to R.E. "Tip" Browne, manager of Regina.

C.M.A. Winery Family Project

Carlo Mario Aggazzotti and his family run the C.M.A. Winery, 11929 Foothill blvd., Cucamonga.

Their retail sales room, featuring the family C.M.A. brand of fine wines, is attached to the Aggazzotti home.

According to smiling, friendly Mrs. Aggazzotti, the family has been in business at the Foothill address since 1950.

"It's just our family," she said when asked who operates the winery. The wine cellar for the aging of the quality C.M.A. wines is located beneath their home, and the family participates in the bottling and sales of their product.

"Our children are a big help," Mrs. Aggazzotti said, referring to their daughter, who lives at home; their son and his wife. The C.M.A. Winery is open from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. daily.
